Eric Thibodeaux from The Great Treason and Others In This Archive as Suspects

Images are important, important to consider as a person is discredit, a whistle-blower, by those who are in position to do so, especially in making slanderous allegations about a person that discredit the person, or coopte the person to draw attention away from the original person. It is a bit like the Catholic Church defedending itself (I you believe the movie theme of Stigmata.) The Church wants to protect against any heresy againts the Church itself on the one hand and with other hand suppress any False Idols (postive appearances about competitors.) My books on Treason are that attempts to discredit whistle-blower have been made against me for pollitical reasons, slandering me, while coopting and preempting my work. They did allow me in but at the Red Rose as I was composing an email to the Texas Rangers a sudden confrontation was started with me and I completed that email to the Rangers from a coffee shop outdoor table accross the street. I inluded log details that was exactly in composing that email I was assaulted then asked to leave in a dispute over the confrontation. Similarly this happened at Starbucks when I was wring about Austin politcians. Again I copied my browser history as an export and sent it to show when I was evicted. Similar timed attacks have occured quite often.

I have asserted political figures lied about my life in California, did so on behalf of the political needs of the D.C., Arlington VA area, and encouraged Texans to do so as well, with Yellow Rose, Red Rose, and Palazio being the next to theatrially stage slander. The Yellow Rose in particular was hostile to what I found were important milestones in my Kennedy assination research.

Eric Thibodeaux is a Concealer

I have contacted him and Austin Police Oversight copying him about with I think is an erroneiosu links of me to events that never occured (as least as told) and that Jen Moore (decased) asserted was fraud.

Subject: I sent this regened email (taking the headerss out of the other people on being turne down for an apartment

Subjet: Having an inclination to write frequenlty unread works I would like to explain this writer's nook.

Body: Nook; an interior angle or corner formed usually by two wallsI do like to look words up and make sure of them or learn more about them. This nook was at the right angle with a window in the corner overlooking the Nueces Bay. Ofte I would pause to look out the windor perhaps from the couch to reflect on what I just watched writers like David Talbor (The Devils Chessboard) have discovered about the Cold War and how all of this could fit together..

I was always concerned about death threat and thug neighbors that had been moved in and were defrauding my abusively targeting my trust fund for insurane fraud, it a gaurantor of my conduct and alleging I was in misconduct harrasseed my use of the apartment and was fraud.

It was in fighting this operation, these neigbors, and the falsified records the dispute emerged. I was inflamed they were skid row thugs and mentally ill people frokm social services, prison release programs, etc.,

The floor I thoght was beautiful. It was dried out, covered in splattered paint, etc., from UV damage over decades of neglect and shoddy work. I and sanded it and using my sail boat experience applied Teak Oil to it to preserve it.

All of the apartment I used great care in and documents al of this. I I paid all rent on time and was a victim, the landlord and their assets were perpetators. When I was given three days to move out in a sham and sudden eviction letter I knew I would loose everthing my mothers will and trust bought for the apartment. This was unavoidalbe. I thought I would bust up the furniture because the neigbors wanted it so bad especiallyi the TV home theater stand and equipment I hand built from used wood and parts.

The loss of property my property was their fault and not mine. I re-installed the computer to a clean windows installation waiting for the first login to rather than desstroy it. It was an older computer but a great workhorse so why destory it.

If you are interested and wherever I a thinnk this context play a factor the dispute wen tlike this but had deeper motives.

I had law abiding fantasis having spent some 30 or so active years in BDSM going back into the 1970's I left the scene for many raasons most quite mutual.

Nevertheless I had purused law and philsophh all my life and tot inovle in activism often far-right.

In the worst of Texas are a corruption they learned of my life and by suppressing my reputation as to preferences, fantasies, etc; in a public way others were able to impress others in a public way about defending against me as mewffond heroes.

Some of this is pure politics, some prurient. Let me give an example of both. Making me seem a bad influence on Debutantism as for influeng new people (which is far exagerated as an interest of mine) it opened that door to othesr.

As for the prurient side I notices law abiding fantasties of me had been distorted in a way that manuactured and ethical and legal watch over me.

Drawing from characters of role plays let me offern a example for who I am but also how this ha been altere and may leave others with a misuderstanding.

I fantasis about a strict teacer, peraps Terresa Wells, or Welt.t@example.edu

Perhaps I ask her to strip, but is there hell to pay for that teacher fantasy. Or I have adulto porn about addult people in adult roles.

Sladerers have faked the porn in question is child abuse, non consentual, et., Back in ALT et days I downloaad some washoard abbs teen that is not someting that should generate n interest in me.

I am concerend 1) that my repuation does not prevvent access to housing, or that a fraud sceheme does not drift into the political or be part of a larger poltiialliy mostive smear of a book writer.

I don't want to dump all this on you but tere is alays talk here and there and as to me I wanted to introcues myself in a fair way.

Subject: I have expressed concern that a re-inforcgin slander of "office mob" has generated dangerous psychology and incited participation

The psychology of a lynch mob is a chilling study in group dynamics, fear, and dehumanization. It's not just about violence—it's about how ordinary people can be swept into extraordinary cruelty under certain conditions.

- Psychological Drivers

  - Deindividuation: In a mob, individuals often lose their sense of personal responsibility. The anonymity of the crowd can make people feel less accountable for their actions.
  - Group Polarization: When like-minded individuals gather, their views can become more extreme. A mob amplifies shared anger or fear.
  - Othering and Scapegoating: Lynch mobs often target those seen as outsiders—racial, ethnic, or ideological "others." This process of dehumanization makes violence seem justified.
  - Fear and Projection: According to psychodynamic theories, mobs may project internal fears—such as shame, deprivation, or powerlessness—onto a chosen victim.
  - Obedience to Authority: Sometimes mobs act on cues from leaders or perceived authority figures, believing they're fulfilling a righteous cause.

- How It Starts

  - Triggering Event: Often begins with a rumor, accusation, or perceived injustice—real or imagined.
  - Social Tension: Economic hardship, racial animosity, or political unrest can prime a community for mob behavior.
  - Catalyst: A charismatic figure or inflammatory rhetoric can ignite action. Once the first act of violence occurs, others may follow in a cascade.
  - Bystander Effect: The silence or inaction of witnesses can embolden aggressors. Lack of intervention is often interpreted as tacit approval.

Further Reading

You might find this psychodynamic analysis of lynch mobs especially insightful—it explores how these groupings enact destructive "othering" dynamics. For a broader look at > crowd behavior, Psychology Today's article on mob mentality breaks down the social psychology behind it. If you're curious, we could also explore historical examples or how these dynamics show up in online spaces. Want to go deeper? - MS Copilot

Simple slander is perhaps opinion or choice or name calling for various reasons often within the law. When a charicturization is the basis of allegation of illegal conduct it can drive lynch mobs and retalition inside and outside the legal system by others.

As some may know I often operate on-line as "Second Line of Troops." Jen Moore was a former police officers in Kennedy assasination related research. I have backed up allegations frauds have slanered me. I notice Eric as a restaurat Second Line of Troops in Austin so perhaps you encountered some of this. Usuallly I copy what I am writing at the library, in coffess shops, caberets, etc.,

It was her assertion that while used to extort my presence in locations by blaming my presence in locations for thigs I was not invoved in criminal racketeerimg was occuring.

What lynch mobs believe to be true, reinforce as being true based on what they hear or are told, and what should be carefully verified as always important and always mised whe the pschyhopogy of the lych mob is a driving force.

I have offered information on this and I encourage scrutiny as what may have or may be occuring and if the facts activities are based on can be verified.

Subject: Having lost a good home in sketchy city i could still use a roomine anywhere

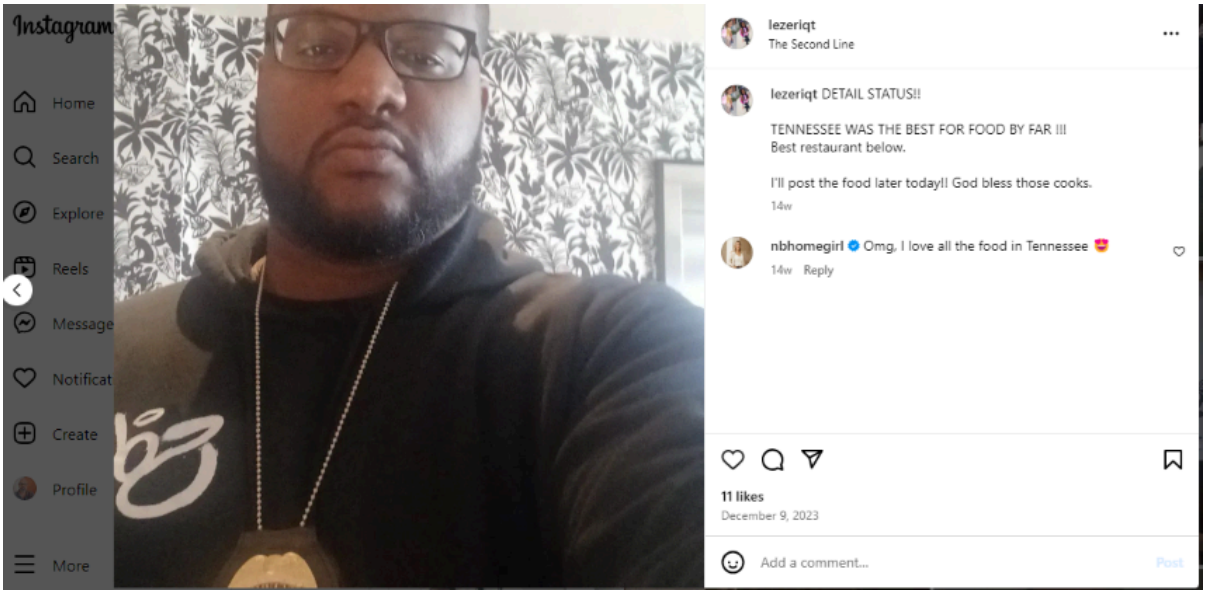
Again, the alleegations bulled onto my apartment usage has really wiped me out. I have 10k in savings and 2.7k income.

Not trying to hammer you with emails about me but IF you know of a person looking to rent a room and share expenses. with no issues to adult life it gets me past the credit problmes of the evictions and please do refere them to me or this email address.

-Thanks

Likely working with Wray and openly working with or as the FBI he is security at The Yellow Rose Cafe. Ghosting a person is to try to make them the ghost in the room that no one can see because all the atention (followers) is drawn away to others that would have gone to the person being ghosted. The Yellow ROse and Red Rose have been running illegal schemes.

On Friday March 7, 2025 I experienced a Conflation Attack linking me through conflating real information with flase information a total lie. I ordered Triple Threat Nachos that had I think three souces, a white sauce, gaucamole, and one other I forget. I got a lap dance from a normal looking adult looking blonde dancer who seemed close to Lilith a paganish sculpted body. It was said to me I ordered a triple and the blonde appeared with a sickening underage looking females with disgusting skin covered narrow hipbone. The conflation was the nachos order also was a lapt dancing request and the lap dance request with and adult looking female include a child looking female who at other times was with the blonde.



You might think Eric is quite a nice man, charming, walking around the Yellow Rose in his security firm's garb saying hello to most in a friendly manner and in fact I see much of myself in him but that is where my suspicions emerge.

I had asked Eric for his business card as I had several others at that club since I was concerned about a human trafficking operation, the death of Jen Moore, and false allegations in a sham investigation operating in adult entertainment circles.

This the conspiracy Jen Moore alleged in detail accorss a series of interviews with Farmer Jones, her own social media sites, and documents she possessed. I began calling myself Second Line of Troops (something I had never seen before and made up after I could not find being a Second to anyone in that term of military art) and I see he is associated and my own a Creole based restaurant Called Second Line with a logo I can not quite see clearly but might be crossed military rifles.

How he gave me his card to reminds me of my Wells Fargo days. We in the tech business exchaged vCards for Outlook and other programs. At that time I was freinds with Peter Shipley a well known security consultant. When I asked how at Honor Flight DCA (Reagan For Emperor For Life International Impiril Airport_) he shoulded rather than RFID QR codes might be good for tracking which vet was just photographed, go on the bus back home, etc., rather than RFID. In the QR Code you could put the veteran's name and other information so you could later asociated the idenity of the person with the image of the person.

I use the QR Code system quite a bit since having looked into it at Peter Shipley's suggestion.

I must digress here. I often admired James Baker. There is a book called James A. Baker III: Iron Fist in a Velvet Glove.

The book says " ... Baker seemed to operate discreetly in the background, he systematically burnished his own image with selective leaks to trusted friends in the media. In Washington, that is often key to success and survival. "He was calculating and cunning and opportunistic in all the ways that reflected the city whose top jobs he conquered one by one." I don't know about me Edward Donegan having an iron fist just a bad tempter that makes me ineffective quite often. But I do believe in quiet work that helps machines run quietly and with little trouble and little noise because they are maintained well. So I tend to like quiet work over noisy activities and I believe in opportunity costs concepts, the concept a of a simple action here or there though of little noice and perhaps even of little importance may preempt of problem of great importance.

Most things I do I try to keep from being poisoned with noise. I recently saw where Ego was called a "narcotic" and in Alcoholics Anonymous I frequently refereed to A Nun's Story. The novice is told when a news story is coming up about a cure for a disease the Catholics who are a part of it are encourage to not be significant in the story. The disease and the cure were the story. Nun's should aslo prefer to walk along the wall of a hallway. Too much in its center seemed to suggest a control of it or a greatness in ones purpose and actions.

I did not work with veterans to come on to anyone but in a few conversations some of my life's learnings did come up and I made some simple comments rather than censor them. I was in an email exchange I think with Thank You Ms. Chloe and I mentioned a QR Code on a toy bag in a club might be away to give out information if asked easily. Eric had a QR Code on his card. I don't see that often but I have used it myself once on the reverse side of my card and on fliers I was handing out in Corpus Christi Nueces County Texas about the money laundering racket I was suggesting existed.

The Yellow Rose was engaged in all that suggesting "Lt So and So" is on stage as though a person who preferred child molestation was in the area and it was made to look like I was that person when the Yellow Rose and Red Rose staged exactly that, using their premises to stage who was in my vicinity as though that was why I was there. Called KOMPROMAT or Forced Teaming the system is appearances wrongly link a person to others by association - they are in the same place at the same time - and that KOMPROMAT mat include forged confessions of a double of the person being framed, etc., and that system was and is underway.

This is the information I got from his business Vcard by QR Code. legendaryprotectiongroup19©gmail.com phone_alta a+1-512-239-8560 • Mobile maps Austin, TX United States • Home

I have also complained that when I was documenting matters for Texas Law Enforcement that Red Rose suddenly assaulted me and kicked my out during my attempt to transmit the information to Texas law enforcement. I had to complete my reports from across the street on the same side of South Congress Street at an outdoor table and chair combination of another business.

As I had discussed my allegations with him he said he did work with the FBI and pointed out a female (she was near a muscle car but I do not know it was hers) and he said he and her were part of human trafficking investigations and doing that work already for the FBI. I thus followed up on his giving me his card and sent some emails to him that were not responsded to.

It is true some of the fantasy porn I view does include "slavery." Most does not included fuedalism or though the leather community aspect of voluntary Top and Bottom relationships are included. I dislike any non-consensuality or epxloitation and so called white slavery aks sexual slavery I of course consider repugnat and would contact police and leather scene elders at any time I detected or suspected and in fact several times I have been in the forefront of interceding in non-consentuality.

"Top Pentagon Lawyer Defends Targeted Killings"

By Julian E. Barnes | The Wall Street Journal | February 23, 2012

This article reports on a landmark speech delivered by Jeh Johnson, then General Counsel of the Department of Defense, at Yale Law School regarding the legal framework for counterterrorism operations.

Key Points of the Article

- Legal Justification for Drone Strikes: Details Johnson's defense of the U.S. government's use of lethal force—specifically drone strikes—against suspected terrorists.
- Armed Conflict Framework: Johnson argued that the U.S. is in a state of "armed conflict" with Al Qaeda and its affiliates, providing a legal basis under international law to target specific individuals.
- Targeting American Citizens: Addresses the legality of targeting U.S. citizens who have joined enemy forces, asserting that citizenship does not grant immunity if the individual poses an imminent threat.
- Internal Oversight: Describes a "rigorous" internal review process involving government attorneys to ensure compliance with domestic and international law before authorizing strikes.

Summary of Julian E. Barnes's reporting on the Obama administration's counterterrorism legal policies.

Jeh Charles "Jay" Johnson (/ˈdʒeɪ/; born September 11, 1957) is an American lawyer and former government official who served as the 4th United States secretary of homeland security from 2013 to 2017.

From 2009 to 2012, Johnson was the general counsel of the Department of Defense during the first years of the Obama administration. Before joining the Obama administration, he was a federal prosecutor, the general counsel of the Department of the Air Force, and an attorney in private practice.

Johnson is currently co-chair of the board of trustees of Columbia University, a member of the board of directors of MetLife and the September 11 Memorial & Museum, and a former board member of Lockheed Martin, U.S. Steel, PG&E, and the Council on Foreign Relations. Johnson is also currently a semi-regular commentator on NBC's Meet The Press, MS NOW, CNN, and other networks.

In June 2025, Johnson retired from Paul, Weiss, Rifkind, Wharton & Garrison, LLP, the law firm he had been affiliated with in private law practice off and on for over 40 years.

On January 8, 2009, then President-elect Barack Obama announced Johnson's nomination as Department of Defense General Counsel. On February 9, 2009, he was confirmed by the Senate by a voice vote.

In 2009, Johnson was heavily involved in the reform of military commissions, and testified before Congress numerous times in support of the Military Commissions Act of 2009. In February 2010, the Secretary of Defense appointed Johnson to co-chair a working group, along with Army General Carter Ham, to study the potential impact of a repeal of the military's "Don't Ask, Don't Tell" policy. In November 2010, following an extensive study, Johnson and General Ham reported that the risk to overall military effectiveness of a repeal would be low.

As general counsel, Johnson gave a number of speeches on national security. In a speech delivered at The Heritage Foundation in October 2011, Johnson warned against "over-militarizing" the U.S. government's approach to counterterrorism: "There is risk in permitting and expecting the U.S. military to extend its powerful reach into areas traditionally reserved for civilian law enforcement in this country." At a speech at Yale Law School in February 2012, Johnson defended "targeted killings".

For the inauguration of Donald Trump, Johnson was chosen as the designated survivor and would have become the next president if a disaster or attack had occurred.

After leaving office in January 2017, Johnson rejoined the law firm Paul, Weiss, Rifkind, Wharton & Garrison in New York City. He is also a member of the boards of directors of MetLife, the National September 11 Memorial & Museum, and co-chair of the board of trustees of Columbia University. He is also now a frequent commentator on NBC's Meet the Press, CBS, MS NOW, CNN, NewsNation and other networks, and the author of numerous op-eds in the New York Times, the Washington Post, the Wall Street Journal, and elsewhere. Johnson also hosts a radio show on FM public radio station WBGO, based in Newark, New Jersey, All Things Soul, that features classic R&B music and commentary, along with interviews.

In June 2018, he was an outspoken critic of the Trump administration's family separation practice at the border. Several days later, he wrote to criticize calls to abolish ICE. Johnson has called for a more civil dialogue from political leaders on both sides of the aisle. In December 2021, he co-authored with Leon Panetta, Jane Herman and Bill Bratton, a statement arguing against parole for Sirhan Sirhan, the convicted killer of Senator Robert F. Kennedy.

In December 2018, Secretary Johnson was the recipient of the Ronald Reagan Peace Through Strength Award, presented at the Reagan Presidential Library, for “contributing greatly to the defense of our nation” and “guiding us through turbulent times with courage and wisdom.” He has received numerous other awards and acknowledgments, including three Department of Defense medals for distinguished public service. In December 2021, Johnson was a recipient of The American Lawyer's Lifetime Achievement Award. In May 2022, Johnson was the recipient of the Ellis Island Medal of Honor.

Johnson also delivered the convocation address at Liberty University on September 11, 2020, in which he discussed the importance of morality in political leadership.
